SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 13.—Charged with the murder of Walter P. Bloom, son of a prominent lumberman of this city, and brother of the wife of Dr. W. J. Caesar of Richmond, A. T. Glenn is in the city jail at Redwood City.

Young Bloom died late last night in a hospital here after a four-day fight for life. His sister came from Richmond two days prior and was with him when he died. Dr. Caesar arrived here this morning.

Bloom and his friend, A. T. Glenn, had words on the street in Pescadero last Monday. Bolws were exchanged and the latter drew a revolver and shot. The bullet entered the abdomen of Bloom, who, though mortally wounded, succeeded in wresting the weapon away from Glenn.

Glenn was immediately arrested and held pending the result of the injuries to Bloom.

M'Gowan Fails to Flank Army of Point Warriors

Europe isn't the only place they have war. A dispatch from Point Richmond tells of a terrible contest waged there yesterday.

When the dull thud of bursting mud bombs and the metallic rattle of tin-can musketry was at its height some one sent a code message to the police station.

The desk sergeant executed a flank movement and fell upon about forty small boys. The battle became a rout. Napoleon's historic retreat from Moscow had nothing on it.

The two armies fled together, with Sergeant MacGowan in pursuit. The belligerents scattered and disappeared.

MacGowan kept hot after three brigadier generals and a field marshall. He cornered them in an alley. But just as he almost had them they slipped through a hole in a high board fence.

MacGowan had as much chance to follow them as a dollar has to slip into the slot of a penny gum machine. He gave up.

Matthews' share, it is said, will be several thousand dollars, if it is awarded.

J. Kelleher, a member of the battleship Iowa's crew when the battle of Santiago harbor was fought, is also awaiting the decision of the Naval Prize Court. He estimates that his share of prize money will amount to $2500. Kelleher conducts a notion store at 1920 Macdonald avenue.

DAUGHTER DIES AS MOTHER IS BURIED

Mrs. Henry T. Hulin Gets Sad News of Second Bereavement in Family.

Mrs. Henry T. Hulin, 420 Thirteenth street, who a few days ago received a telegram telling of the death of her mother, Mrs. W. Roessing, at Butler, Pa., yesterday received another telegram bringing the sad news that her sister, Mrs. Claude Griffey, had died suddenly on the same day her mother was buried.

Mrs. Griffey, whose home was in Denver, had been in ill-health for some time, but her death came as an unexpected shock to the relatives. She was visiting at the home of the parents in Butler, and died while the other members of the family were attending the funeral of Mrs. Roessing.

NO WORD OF DEAD MAN'S RELATIVES

SON AND DAUGHTER OF FORMER RAILROAD CONDUCTOR UNKNOWN NOT BE FOUND.

A brief funeral service over the body of Robert O. Donaldson was held at the chapel of the Smallwood undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon by Rev. Guy A. White.

Doualdson, a former railroad conductor, working from this city, dropped dead at Oleum Wednesday, where he was working for the Union Oil Company. Death was due to heart trouble.

All efforts to find a son and daughter Donaldson was thought to have in Los Angeles have proved without avail. It is now thought that when he made the statement to acquaintances that he had such relatives he may have been joking and really had no children.

The body will be cremated.

BOILING GREASE CAUSES LOSS OF HOME

Residence of Frank Mallinson, 556 Thirteenth Street, Burns to the Ground.

Hitch in Process of Making Soap Starts Blaze—Turn Alarm in From Wrong Box.

When a pot of grease, being boiled by a member of the family, prior to the making of some home made soap, boiled over the edge of the pot and spread over the stove, yesterday morning, a blaze was started that increased so rapidly that the home of Frank Mallinson, 556 Thirtieth street, burned to hte ground in spite of the efforts of the fire department.

The alarm was turned in shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning from box 316, Espee and Chanslor streets, by a teamster. The fire department, in accordance with regulations, sped to that box, where they found that the fire was on Thirtieth street and that a long detour was necessary.

By the time Mallinson, who was summoned by phone, arrived, his home was a mass of smoking ruins. Mrs. Mallinson was in Oakland consulting a physician and knew nothing of the loss of her home until she returned late in the afternoon and was met by her husband.

Some time after the house was built it was discovered that it had been built on the wrong lot. It was moved 50 feet to Mallinson's property, a short time ago. The loss is close to $2000. A $1000 insurance policy was owned by Mallinson.

Johnson was to have been sentenced yesterday, but in compliance with the request of the boy's attorneys the sentence was deferred until next Saturday.

Judge Conley declared that he would act in accordance with the report made by the probation officer. Johnson was convicted of a crime against a young girl.

SOCIAL SERVICE.

There is a world of difference between Associated Charities and Social Service Bureau. Between "charity" and "social service" is the knowledge that has come with the growing appreciation that the man out of a job is not always a "bum," a lazy good-for-nothing, nor a beggar.

To accept charity a man must make the humiliating admission that he has failed in the battle for a living, that he is an incompetent and inferior.

When he accepts charity he pays for it in full with the self-respect he loses. To offer charity to the man who has lost his job through no fault of his own, because the country is suffering with psychological depression, or because the great corporations are retrenching to shove up their profits, is to add insult to injury.

Richmond's new organization started off Friday night right. The members decided to call it the Social Service Bureau and the Bureau will undoubtedly live up to that name.

Social service, we take it, means aiding society. It means helping the lower-downs and all the rest of society by attacking the grim problem of unemployment. It means that efforts will be made towards helping the applicant procure a job where he can earn his own living and not giving him provisions for a day, or money enough for one meal, a practice that obviously leads nowhere and solves nothing.

It is apparent that the members of Richmond's Social Service Bureau are looking in the face of present conditions with their eyes and minds open, and that they are willing to do their part in bettering those conditions.

Of course, and it's too bad that this is so, the new organization can only do a little in the fight against poverty. But if there were more organizations of men and women in this country who would swap the word charity for social service and then live up to the new words, much could be accomplished.

THE DIFFERENCE.

William Jennings Bryan, ho has made a broad and deep study of social problems, says:

"The trust and the labor organization cannot be described in the same language. The trust magnates have used their powers to amass swollen fortunes, while no one will say that the labor organization has as yet secured for its members more than their share of the profits arising from their work.

"But there are fundamental differences. The trust is a combination of dollars; the labor organization is an association of human beings. In a trust a few men attempt to control the product of others; in a labor organization the members unite for the protection of that which is their own, namely, their own labor, which, being necessary to their existence, is a part of them.

"The trust deals with dead matter; the labor organization deals with life and with intellectual and moral forces."

The great John Morley of England has put the difference in this plain and practical way:

"There is all the difference in the world between the selfishness of a capitalist and the so-called selfishness of a great trade society. The one means an increase of self-luxury for one man or a single family; the other means an increase of decency, increase of comfort, increase of self-respect; more ease for the aged, more schooling for the young, not one family, but a thousand or ten thousand families.

"Others may call that selfishness if they please; I call it humanity and civilization and the furtherance of the commonwealth."

Two Kinds of Sovereigns

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN.

Aaron Skinner, an American, traveling abroad, found himself one day at a little inn in the dukedom of Hesse-Meiningen. It was the fall of the year, and Skinner was a Nimrod.

"Any shooting about here?" he asked of the landlord.

"A little, herr—that is, the preserves of the grand duke are near here, and sometimes the birds fly out into the woods near by. One can occasionally pick off a brace that have strayed."

"Can you lend me a fowling piece?"

"Certainly, herr."

The landlord got the gun and appurtenances and handed them to the American, saying:

"Be careful, herr, not to trespass on the grand duke's grounds, for if caught there you would be arrested for poaching, and it might go hard with you."

Skinner went forth to pick up "a few crumbs from the rich man's table." One may stray a long way after game without knowing it, and he had been wandering an hour without realizing how far he had gone or how many walls or fences he had passed over when suddenly, having crawled under a rusty wire netting, he found himself amid a plentiful supply of pheasants. He had brought one down and was picking it up when, hearing a footstep, he looked around and saw a man with a gun in his hand looking at him.

"A good shot," remarked the other.

"Oh, that's nothing. I learned to shoot in America, where we still have some wild game left. That's shooting. This is merely execution."

"Indeed! How do you happen to be executing birds here?"

"I am a tourist, stopping at the inn. The landlord told me I might happen to get a few birds in this wood that have flown out of the grand duke's preserve. The duke seems to be losing a good many hereabout."

"He can spare them; he has more than he could shoot in a lifetime. So you are an American?"

"I am."

"And every American is a sovereign, I hear."

"He thinks he is."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Didn't you know that we have kings and queens in America?"

"No; how do you make that out?"

"An American king is the political boss controlling the region in which he lives."

"And the queen?"

"Our queens are our wives and sweethearts. The boss makes a man believe he has a lot to say about the government, and the wives and sweethearts make us think we are ruling them with undisputed sway."

"And you think that the sovereignty of the boss is preferable to that of a king?"

"Decidedly. He doesn't have a royal family to support."

"But he bleeds you through jobs."

"Certainly, but he can't plunge us into a war whenever he likes, which is far more expensive."

The man smiled. "You have a pungent way of putting things, my friend. I confess you entertain me. I have a shack near here. I would be pleased to have you take luncheon with me."

"With pleasure."

Stuffing the bird he had shot into his game bag he went with the man through the wood till he came to a sumptuous lodge, about which persons in gorgeous livery were moving. When the huntsmen came up to them they saluted respectfully, and the man told one of them to take the guest to a room for a toilet. When the visitor was ready the two sat down to luncheon. The principal dish served was a brace of pheasants.

"I presume these birds originally belonged to the grand duke," remarked Skinner.

"They did."

"What kind of a chap is he?"

"He's not a bad fellow. Suppose I were to go to America. Do you suppose I could become one of your boss kings?"

"I don't think it would pay you to be one of our princes of the blood. They usually originate, like the oyster, on a muddy bottom and work up to a surface of slime."

"But don't you object to being governed by such persons?"

"Oh, no. At least nobody does except the reformers."

"Who are the reformers?"

"They are the persons who are trying to get into the bosses' places."

"But haven't you any real reformers in America?"

"Not ordinarily. The people haven't time for reform; we're too busy. Occasionally on a big job, like breaking up swindling places, races, for instance, we all butt against it together. But we don't follow it up. We're rich. We can afford to stand to be robbed."

"Then you don't think it would pay me to give up my job here and go to America as one of the rulers there?"

"What is your job?"

"Grand Duke of Hesse-Meiningen."

Skinner was raising a glass of wine to his lips when this announcement was made. He paused and looked at his entertainer.

"And I was shooting in your preserves?"

"Yes. You had doubtless got into them unintentionally, but you were quite welcome."

"No," said Skinner after some thought. "It wouldn't pay you, and it wouldn't pay us."

CONVICT BRINGS SUIT FOR WAGES

At Providence, R. I., the State Supreme Court is hearing arguments on the constitutionality of the law which authorizes hte state to make contracts selling the labor of prisoners without compensating them. William Anderson, a former convict, is suing a garment company which holds a contract with the state for labor of prisoners. Anderson contends that the company should pay him wages for the work he did while a convict, and holds that enforced servitude on the part of a prisoner is slavery, and that the state constitution prohibits slavery, without making an exception against convicts. The court's decision will have a bearing on convict labor in other states.

F. of L. organizers are assisting striking glove makers to perfect their newly-formed trade union, and these workers are more determined than ever to secure the wage increases they struck for. The State Board of Arbitration investigated conditions and reported in favor of the workers' demands, but employers have ignored the recommendation. Now the strikers are organizing.

LAY BARE MILITIA TACTICS IN COLORADO; U.S. TROOPS STORY

DENVER, Dec. 12.—Robt. Young, formerly mine foreman for the Victor American Fuel Co. and the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., was a witness today in the strike investigation conducted by the Federal Industrial Relations Commission.

He testified that union men were not permitted to "alight" in any coal camp in which he had been employed. He said he had not been a union man for 17 years.

Before Young took the stand the commission hteld a brief executive session. District Attorney J. J. Hendrick of the Third judicial district was excused without adding to his testimony of yesterday.

Before the closing of the hearing yesterday Hendrick had testified that the exercise of military domination in Southern Colorado had intimidated citizens in those counties, and that they were afraid to express any opinion upon the acts of the militia lest they be placed in jail and held indefinitely.

To a question of Commissioner Garretson he answered that he was aware that the State Department in its communications to the Mexican government had protested against the detention of Americans incommunicado more than 72 hours, the maximum fixed by Mexican law, but that in military practice ni the southern district men were held without charges 55 days.

TROOPS TO REMAIN.

Pending further developments, President Wilson will not order the withdrawal of Federal troops in the Colorado strike zone. This decision was reached because Governor Ammons, at whose request the troops were sent, declined to accept responsibility by asking that all of them be withdrawn.

FORM NEW WATER FRONT ORGANIZATION FOR COAST: HAS OVER 25,000 MEMBERS

A new labor organization, the largest of its kind ever attempted on the coast, has been born. The name of this gigantic body is the Waterfront and Marine Workers' Federation of the Pacific Coast.

It is an outgrowth of the old City Front Federation, but takes in many more of the local unions, and it seems to be only a matter of weeks before it will take in every Pacific Coast state, embracing all ports, rivers and bays open for navigation of vessels of sufficient size to be termed common carriers.

The organizations so far connected with it are the unions of sailors, riggers and stevedores, firemen, marine cooks and stewards, fishermen, bay and river steamboatmen, marine gasoline engineers, teamsters, longshoremen, steamfitters, piledrivers, calkers and hoisting engineers.

The membership is conservatively estimated, thus far, at 25,000.

CALWA - OUTLAW SERIES IN DOUBT

MILLER SAYS THERE'LL BE GAME—CHEEK SAYS IT'S CALLED OFF.

From the latest reports available last night there will be no baseball game today between the Winehaven boys and Cheek's Outlaws.

Manager Miller of the Calwas called up and said the game would be held on the First street grounds at 2:30. A little later Manager Cheek of the Outlaws said he had had a conference with Captain Pinkerton of the Calwas and they had decided the grounds would be too wet, so no game would be played until a week from today.

The boys have scheduled a three-game series, each game to be for a side bet of $25. The games will be played, one each Sunday, when the weather permits.

MOTOR BOATERS TO MARK RIVERS

The California section of the American Power Boat Association is planning to make cruising in the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers much pleasanter by having signs posted at various places to guide the motor boat captains.

It is proposed to co-operate with the State Engineering Flood Control Board in this work and have the most important of the numerous sloughs marked with signs that will show the direction of towns on the waterways and also the distances.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 12.—Nine girls will be employed as checkers for the $12,500 San Diego exposition auto race, Jan. 9. Experience has taught Manager A. H. RICHMOND IN REVIEW

THAT GANG of sports
WHO HANG out at
JOHN COFFEE'S hotel
AND DON'T read anything
BUT THE form charts
FROM THE Juarez races,
SENT A delegation
TO ASK THAT the nut column
WORK for a revival
OF THE good old sport of kings
AT Emeryville.
THERE WAS Jawn Coffee, himself,
STILL wearing the hip boots
AND raincoat
HE ALWAYS dons
WHEN the boys
HAVE SOUP for supper,
AND FRANCIS Beryne,
WHO WAS driven
FROM New Jersey
BY MOSQUITOES big as race-horses,
AND PAT Gallagher,
WHO HOISTS a hod
FOR the S. O. Co.,
AND BILLIE Skillicorn,
THE BOLD bricklayer
FROM THE Isle of Mann,
AND JACK Short,
THE RACE horse man
FROM Emeryville,
AND JIMMIE the Brick,
ANOTHER RACE horse fan,
AND JERRY Lucey,
AND GUS Sownesky,
AND PAUL Bowyer,
AND MIKE McCushing,
WHO FIRE the fires
THAT BOIL the oil
FOR OLD Jawn D.,
AND JOHNNY Garvin,
THE OIL tester,
AND ARGUFIER of note,
AND PATTY Tooley,
AN ACID eater
FROM THE LEAD gang at the S. O.
WE HAVEN'T got
ENOUGH of a drag
TO RE-ESTABLISH racing,
BUT WE have asked
OUR artist
TO TURN out
SOME RACE horse pictures
SO WE CAN have a race
IN THE nut column,
JUST TO please the boys
AT Coffee's.
THEY'RE off!
SEE THIS game beast flash past!

THE GAME BEAST.

HE SPILLED his rider at the barrier;
BUT HE is running
JUST the same.
AND AFTER lamping the whole field
WE'LL PUT up five
ON HIM to show.
AND HERE another one

ANOTHER ONE.

HE GOT OFF to a bad start,
BUT HE is picking up
ON them.
THEY'VE JUST raced past
THE LINOTYPE out in the back room,
AND ARE NEARING the job press,
WHERE THEY swing into
THE home stretch
FOR THE finish.
HERE they come
SHOOTS PAST the stand:
SEE 'EM pounding down the track.
AND ALL the white faced kids,
WITH SHINY boots
AND SATIN trousers,
AND COLORED caps and blouses
ARE STRETCHED along
THE HORSES' necks,
PRAYING cuss words
IN THEIR ears
TO BRING 'em home.
COME ON, you little bay horse
BUT LOOK What's that?

CONSTABLE JOHN GREGORY, by gosh!!
WHO GOT a tip
AND is dishing up
TO STOP the race.
BEAT IT, fellers, quick!
THE GAME is crabbed!
WE'LL ALL be pinched.
WE CAN'T wait
FOR THE finish!
BUT no!
THEY SHOOT beneath the wire
AND see!
TAMIAHA wins from IHA PINACK
BY A head!
WE HAD our race!
THE CONSTIBULE is foiled!!

THE FINISH.

HERB DOCTORS MAKE SPECIAL OFFER TO DISCOURAGED SUFFERERS

Unusual Opportunity to try These Herbs at Cost

To convince the most doubtful, we will give to any one mentioning this announcement a seven-days' treatment of herbs at half price. This is barely enough to cover to cover the cost of the herbs. At the end of this trial you will be able to judge for yourself just how efficient this herb treatment is. We have letters of thanks for cures of almost every known disease. These letters from local and out-of-town sufferers are open to your inspection at our office. The following letter shows the high regard in which we are held by our many grateful patients:

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I have been suffering from kidney and lung trouble for several years and treated by many of the most prominent physicians in this city, but none of them seemed to do me any good. I also visited the famous springs of California with the same result, and then I gave up all hope of ever being cured. As a last resort I was advised by an old friend of mine to call and go to see Drs. Chan & Kong the next day, and without asking me any questions they told me they understood my case. I began the treatment immediately, and after two days I felt like a new person. So I continued the treatment for three weeks, at which time I was entirely cured. Indeed, htey gave me many more years to live. I write this testimonial in my gratitude and for the benefit of any person who is suffering from any cause whatsoever. I remain very sincerely yours,

INQUEST VERDICT HEART TROUBLE

That he had come to his death because of an attack of heart trouble, was the verdict arrived at by the coroner's jury which held an inquest over the body of Robert A. Donaldsen, who dropped dead at Oleum Thursday night.

Those on the jury were J. M. Betts, foreman; M. J. Kelly, W. W. Cottingham, Rev. Guy A. White, Harry Parks, Joseph Dowling and T. S. Boston.

COLORED PHOTO GIVEN FREE

Ross and Johnson Offer Unique Xmas Gift to Patrons.

The opening of the Ross & Johnson Home Portrait Studio at Fifteenth and Clay streets, opposite Taft & Pennoyer's, Oakland, gives Oakland one more unique, high art photo gallery. Mr. S. B. Ross, formerly of the Hartsook and Bushnell studios, will assume chargeo f the business office and promises many features for the benefit of the public. Among the first will be a souvenir Christmas opening offer of a beautiful colored photo of yourself, babies or family group, 7x11 inches, in an Artist case. This colored photo will be given free to every person ordering a sitting between now and Christmas.

With Mr. Ross is associated Mr. H. S. Johnson, a noted Eastern artist. Mr. Johnson will be in full charge of the studio, giving his personal attention to every sitting and the finishing work. Mr. Johnson's reputation for artistic ability combines with originality. They guarantee all work to be finished within one week from the date of the sitting, so that portraits that are desired for Christmas will be ready in plenty of time.

Too much stress cannot be put on the fact that Messrs. Ross and Johnson not only handle studio sittings, but will also make appointments for sittings in your own home.

This, as has been demonstrated by these gentlemen, is a very desirable way of having portraits taken, as it brings in many of the familiar details and surroundings of one's own fireside as well as eliminating the inconvenience necessitated by having to go to the studio.

However, the studio work is preferable in many cases, and Mr. Ross, to encourage this work, offers photos from $5 per dozen up.

Photo coupons and special rate orders on any representative studio will be accepted here at their full face value and in addition will entitle the holder to the colored photo offer. Advt.

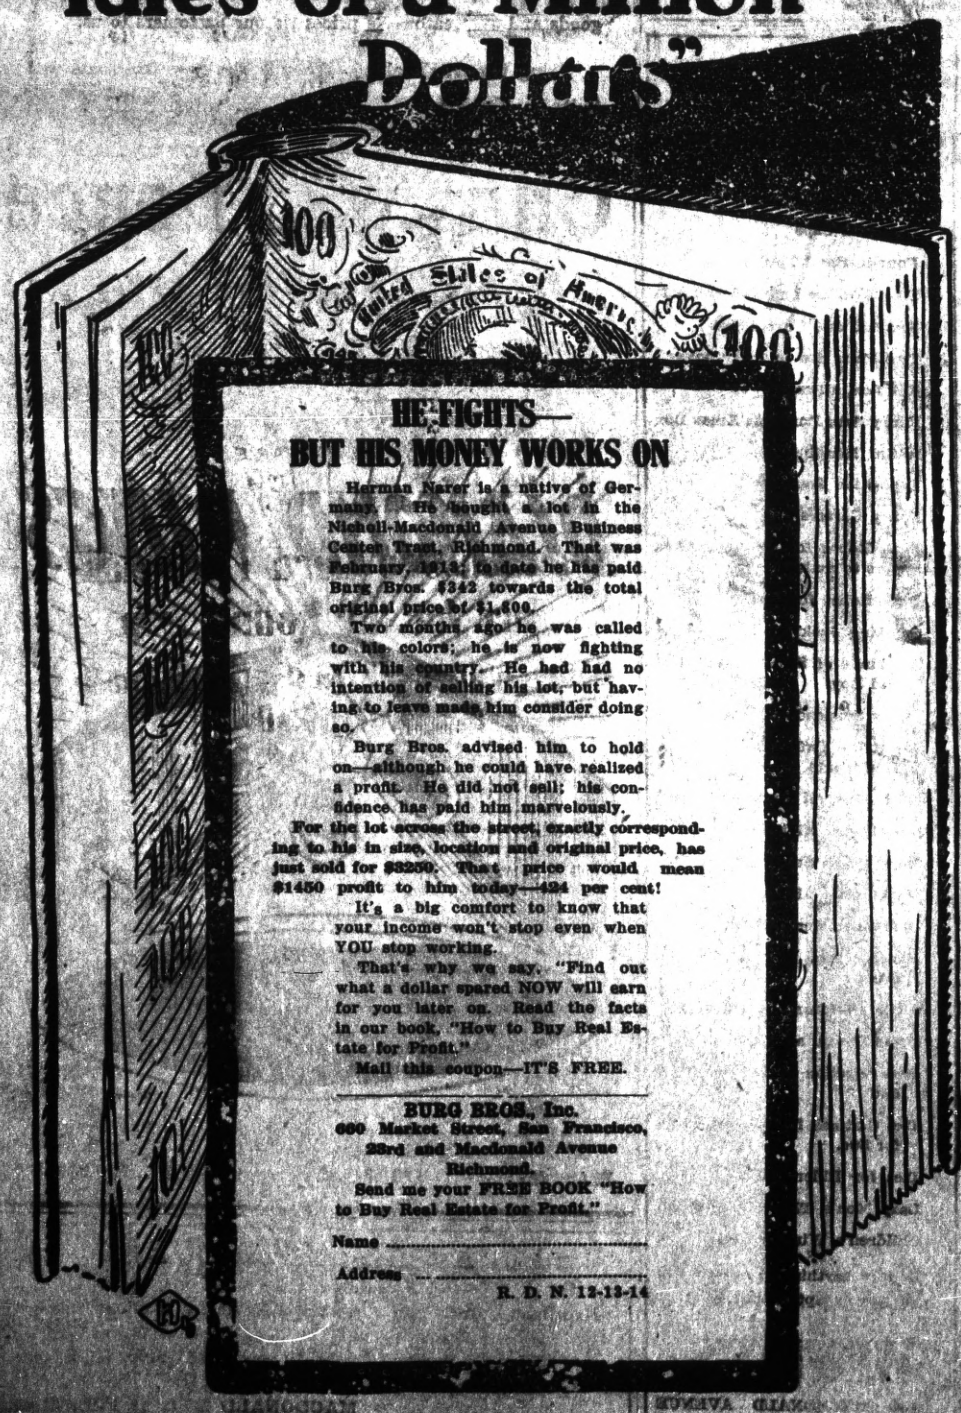
"Tales of a Million Dollars"



HE FIGHTS—
BUT HIS MONEY WORKS ON

Herman Narer is a native of Germany. He bought a lot in the Nichell-Macdonald Avenue Business Center Tract, Richmond. That was February, 1913; to date he has paid Burg Bros. $342 towards the total original price of $1,600.

Two months ago he was called to his colors; he is now fighting with his country. He had had no intention of selling his lot, but having to leave made him consider doing so.

Burg Bros. advised him to hold on—although he could have realized a profit. He did not sell; his confidence has paid him marvelously.

For the lot across the street, exactly corresponding to his in size, location and original price, has just sold for $3250. That price would mean $1450 profit to him today—424 per cent!

It's a big comfort to know that your income won't stop even when YOU stop working.

That's why we say, "Find out what a dollar spared NOW will earn for you later on. Read the facts in our book, "How to Buy Real Estate for Profit."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

BY SCOOP

LIVERMORE RICHMOND TO PLAY FINALS

By winning the Livermore-Richmond game, Friday night, the local basketball aggregation qualified to play in the final championship game on January 16. As Livermore has two games to its credit, it is a settled fact that the championship game will be played against that team.

As Friday night's game was the best ever played in the local gymnasium, the championship struggle, which will be replete with all the excitement of such a momentous game, will draw the largest crowd in the history of local basketball.

The crowd was so large Friday night that plans to enlarge the seating capacity of the gymnasium have been given a thought. Two schemes present themselves, the building of a mezzanine floor on the right side of the gymnasium, which would be similar to a balcony, and the other is to extend the west end of the gymnasium out twenty feet.

SPECIAL DESIGNS TO ARRIVE SOON

Early this week a number of designs will be received from a San Francisco jewelry firm, on which the pin committee will pass. If any satisfactory designs are received they will be submitted to the students for approval.

Four designs have already been recommended by the committee, and it is probable that an election this week will again fix the official pin of the school.

A LITTLE BOY'S THANKSGIVING ESSAY ON TURKEYS.

The turkey is a curious animal. When they walk they trot, and when they run they cakewalk.

The Turkey is the emblem of Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is caused by the turkey. It has two legs, but they ain't exactly front legs nor hind legs. A turkey don't have no nose nor ears, and they swallow their victuals whole and the crop chews 'em. The turkey is smaller than some animals and larger than others. We can be thankful that we ain't a turkey; and that after we have ate all we can so we can't swallow, we can still chew. Thanksgiving is the best time of year, unless it is Christmas and New Year's, Fourth of July, Washington's Birthday and the summer vacation and fishin'.
